'SEE AMERICA FIRST' IS ADVICE OF MRS. ADAMS

"I can not see why American's go year after year to Europe when there is so much of interest to see in the new world," said Harriet Chalmers Adams, the South American explorer to the Star-Bulletin reporter the other day. She added that the people of Honolulu are real travelers, that they are really interested in things geographical, as the Hawaiian membership in the largest American Geographical Society proves.

Mrs. Adams has learned, since coming to Honolulu, that she has been elected a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society of London.

The pictures selected for the travel story at the opera house next Tuesday evening, June 17, are of the Andean Highlands, the Southernmost Settlements of the World, and the Spanish Main, the new world Riviera. Reserved seats for Tuesday evening are on sale at the rooms of the promoter's committee.

TWO EXCELLENT MUSICAL EVENTS

PLANNED FOR BIJOU THEATRE

Of great interest is the presentation by J. H. Magoon at the Bijou theatre on Tuesday, June 17, and Friday, June 20, of two artists of international fame: Anthony Carlson, well-known as one of America's greatest basses, and the distinguished English pianist Vernon Spencer.

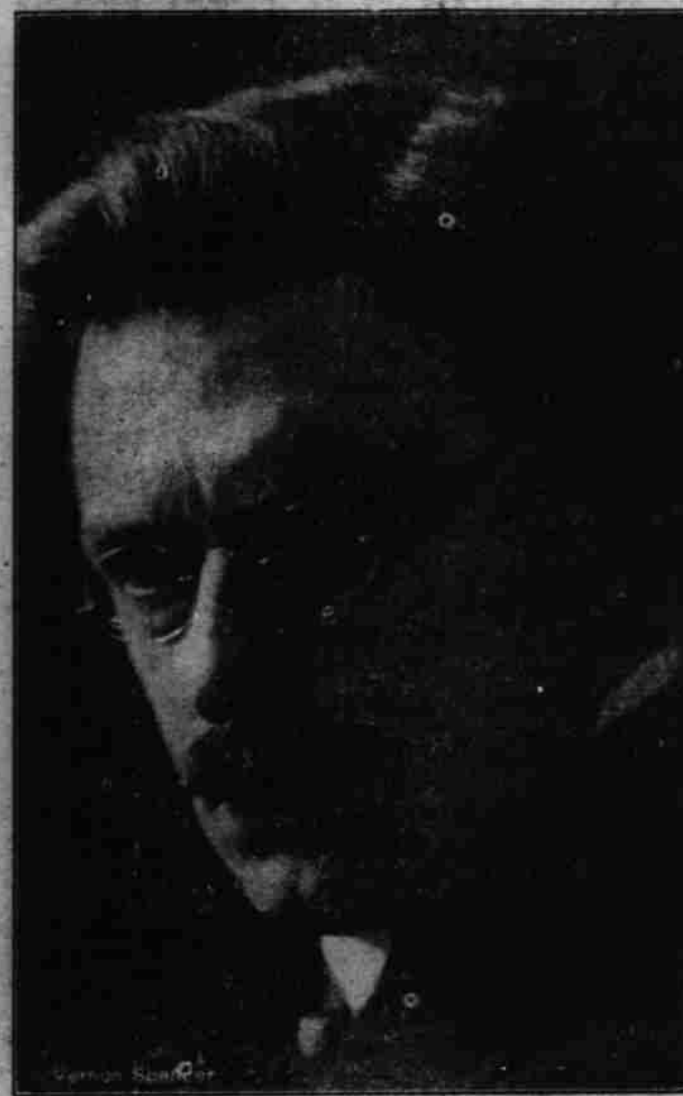

These two artists are booked for a tour around the world, the next concert taking place in Batavia and the principal cities of the Dutch East Indies. Following the custom of so many artists they have arranged for two programmes of unusual interest.

Mr. Carlson has a voice of exceptional range, extending over a compass of two and a half octaves.

In defense of his conviction that the Lied, or song, represents a higher standard of music than opera, Mr. Carlson has consistently refused to appear in opera.

In both recitals Mr. Carlson will sing selections from Wagner's operas—selections which prove his theory that the most essential numbers in any opera are those which are just as effective when removed from the setting of the stage.

Mr. Vernon Spencer's first visit to America was in 1903, on which occasion, his recitals were all east of the Rockies. For more than twelve years he has been a prominent factor in the German musical world and has achieved an international fame as a teacher as well as a pianist and composer.

COLLEGE CLUB OAHU COLLEGE IS

ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

PLANNING FOR NEXT YEAR

The annual meeting of the College Club for 1913 was called Tuesday afternoon at the Colonial. In spite of the rain, the attendance was large and a highly successful meeting was held. Reports from the various committees on the Loan Fund, Dr. Day Memorial Fund, and the girls' probation work were read which proved that the business side of the club had been well attended to with very gratifying results. Mrs. Wallace Farrington, president of the College Club, outlined the varied career of the organization during the past year, after which there followed discussions for a permanent Dr. Day memorial. The present one consists in the maintenance of a trained nurse in the Palama Settlement to assist in the anti-tuberculosis campaign and other school work. The members, however, are desirous of something more substantial and permanent with which to honor the memory of the physician who was so beloved in Honolulu. The last business of the meeting was the election of new officers for the fiscal year beginning in October. The following were elected to hold office: President, Mrs. Arthur Alexander; vice-president, Mrs. Wilbur MacNeil; treasurer, Miss Brawthen; secretary, Miss Maude Martin; board of governors, Mrs. Walter Frear, Mrs. Wallace Farrington.

Business over, the meeting concluded with a social hour while delicious refreshments were served. During the summer months the meetings of the College Club will be discontinued beginning with the school year in September or October.

SOMETHING NEW FOR THE TEA TABLE.

China in the old Chinese patterns and decorated in black and gold, with a design of twin reeds on the black ground, is something not only new but likewise very attractive for the tea table. Each cup is encircled with a band of gold and has the black in an oblong medallion on the outer side.

On this black medallion is the little bouquet of reeds. Tea pot, cream pitcher and cups and saucers are all fine in shape. This china is particularly effective for use in rooms having black painted or lacquer furniture, and black ground cabinets or bookcases for upholstery and hangings.

PASSION PLAY DARLING FORCED

IS SILENT TO WEAR PANTS

SERMON

A powerful sermon without words was received by two thousand people last night with breathless interest as they sat or stood in lines along the aisles of the Bijou theater while six reels of narrow film, depicting the life of the Saviour from birth in lowly manger to death by crucifixion on a cross, was presented in a manner never before attempted in this city. "From the Manger to the Cross," a film of international fame, proved by far the greatest film feature ever brought to the islands.

The Kalem film carries the spectator through the length and breadth of Egypt, Palestine and the Holy Land. The camera has succeeded in gathering a wonderful collection of interesting as well as historical bits of scenery, made famous through its connection with the life of Christ.

Beginning with the Sphinx and the Pyramids, and continuing through the east rich in its legends and historical lore, the sea of Galilee, the Mount of Olives, Garden of Gethsemane, the cities and villages of Palestine are drawn upon to serve as a fitting background for the production. The picture is intensely dramatic and realistic and every inch is filled with action.

So great an impression has this remarkable picture made upon the public that religious leaders without regard to creed or doctrine are united in declaring it a powerful sermon without words, and an agency for great good among all classes of people and especially those not reached through the influence of the churches. "From the Manger to the Cross," will continue at the Bijou throughout the week.

FILM CARRIES

LOCAL SCENES

"Hawaiian Love" represents one of the first productions along the line of a motion picture drama, produced by the Universal Stock Company, including a delegation of players, under the direction of Messrs. Wray, Dillon and others, who spent several months in the islands, and in Honolulu in the preparation of a series of photo plays, among which "Hawaiian Love," backed by a tropical setting is rated as one of the best.

In gathering material for the moving pictures the camera caught practically all the well known bits of scenery in and about Honolulu. A portion of the play centers around the famous Kamehameha statue, the venerable schooner Ka Mof, Waikiki's coral strand. The picturesque grounds at the Hawaii Outrigger Club were brought into the scene on one or two occasions.

"Hawaiian Love," as depicted by the Universal Company, and a feature in the Champion product of films, in a manner depicts the same passions and affections known the world over, with the same old love intrigues and triangles, but with the balmy atmosphere of the tropics to add to the spice of the drama. In the Wray production there is the conventional triangle of two men and a girl with the exception that the action is laid in and about Honolulu and the characters are depicted as Hawaiians. A skipper of a trading schooner succeeds in luring a pretty Hawaiian miss from home and family while later in the play justice again demands it own.

A series of attractive advertising matter is now being sent out by the film manufacturers which depicts Honolulu's well known watering place and bathing beach as a background with two figures assuming a dramatic pose in the foreground.

Arrangements are now under way to secure the release of this film for exhibition in the islands.

IN THE NURSERY.

One of the handiest articles a young mother can have in the house is a low hall tree, which should be cut down to be only three or four feet high, and will be one of the most convenient pieces of furniture, for on it can be slipped the little long dresses and petticoats, which are most convenient when always within reach. Then it is a good way to air the little articles that come from the laundry. Cover with white enamel paint.

'Nature Man' Shocks Natives of the California Capital

[By Latest Mail]
SACRAMENTO. — Conservation was manifested along Sacramento's main thoroughfares when C. W. Darling, the "nature man," made his first appearance in the State's capital city. Clad only in a bifurcated suit of underclothes and whose only headgear was a green eyeshade, Darling was easily the day's sensation, and shrieks of feminine amusement greeted his progress through the city's streets. Later in the afternoon Darling found his way to the Southern Pacific depot, where he was found by Policeman Martin Pennish seated placidly on an express truck munching a species of garden grass.

"Say, what are you doing?" asked the patrolman, letting out his breath for the first time in several minutes. "Eating," was the calm and polite reply.

"Well, what's the matter with you?" questioned Pennish, noting more closely the South Sea island skirt of the exaggerated peek-a-boo variety. "Nothing," responded Darling as he hunted a new browsing spot in his hand full of nature food.

The dialogue resulted in Darling consenting to adorn his lower extremities with a pair of trousers, but only after considerable pressure had been brought to bear.

Darling appealed to the inspector of police to no avail. He was told that he would remain in Sacramento only so long as he obeyed the mandates of the police department.
